

Dennis Clark is the Senior Managing Director of Corporate Venturing and Open Innovation at Honda Innovations. Dennis leads Honda's open innovation initiatives and strategic partnerships with startups and venture capital firms globally. Before joining Honda, Dennis worked in early stage venture capital building bridges between technology upstarts in Silicon Valley and multinational corporations. Early in his career, Dennis spent eight years in Japan working in a variety of sectors including commercial banking and international civil service.