Find growth in Asia-Pacific private debt investments

The APAC Summit is your chance to connect with Asia's leading LPs to secure funds. Regional investors are impressed with their resilient portfolios amid the covid-19 crisis and will continue to increase allocations to APAC markets in 2021.

"We need to build out a long-term, sustainable business in Asia. It's about creating something for the next decade or two."

John Graham, CCPIB

CCPIB's new boss: The man who built a credit empire, Private Debt Investor

"We did not expect a black swan event like covid. However, our private debt portfolio was resilient."

Dong Hun Jang

CIO, POBA

"2021 will be the year managers start to move private debt funds from the margins to the mainstream."

Why Asia Pacific is in the spotlight, Private Debt Investor

"There will be a wave of LPs in China looking at alternative investment and, with the volatility in private equity exits, we expect they will allocate more to private credit."

Ryan Chung, Huatai International
