Investor sentiment towards diversity and inclusion

At a turbulent time for the industry, LP opinions are more important than ever. That's where our LP Perspectives Study, one of the most comprehensive of the private markets landscape, comes in. Perspectives is our annual study of institutional investors' approach to alternative asset classes. The study provides a granular view of the market, both current and future, by gathering insight on investors' asset allocation, diversity and ESG, and performance predictions.

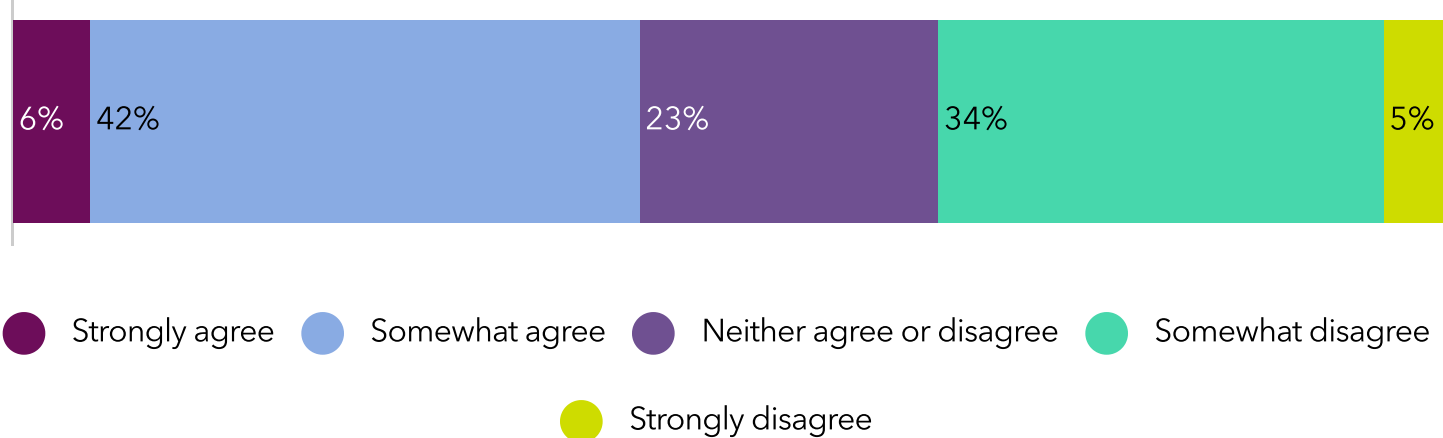

How significant a part does diversity and inclusion play in due diligence?

Has your institution ever:

To what extent do you agree that GPs are taking the risks of climate change seriously enough in their own investment policies and practices?
