The 3rd annual PDI Japan Korea Week delivered fresh insight directly from Japanese and Korean investors.

KIC shared their strategic plan to cope with volatile markets, how they incorporated ESG frameworks into their portfolios and fund manager selection preferences.

Leading investors and placement agents helped our audience get a better understanding of how Japanese and Korean investor appetite has shifted and how they view opportunities in the next cycle.

“It was helpful for our strategic planning and re-think about structural changes that could penetrate through the next decade with the growing interest into private debt investments.”
