America Forum
New York 2021

9:30 am Welcome from PERE - Chairman's Opening Remarks

9:40 am Opening Keynote: A conversation with Mark Gabbay, Global CEO, LaSalle Investment Management.
Interviewed by Kyle Campbell, Senior Reporter, PERE

10:00 am Seizing the moment: Spotlight on distressed and opportunistic investing
In the first quarter of 2021, over one third of the $363.8 billion existing dry powder in the US was sitting in either opportunistic or distressed funds. With global forbearance coming to an end, is this a once in a century opportunity for distressed funds and their backers? How are the next 18 months going to play out?

Speakers:
Jeff Friedman, Founder, Mesa West
Jordan Suppan, Managing Director, Leste Credit
Amy Johannes, Managing Director, Oaktree

10:40 am LP Panel: ESG: What prevents managers from getting in front of the investment committee?
Driving fund manager selection, investment decision and allocations more than ever, ESG remains at the top of the LP agenda. Panelists will get to the meat of the issue – who will - and won't - they put their capital with based on the principles of ESG? What metrics and measurements do they use and how do they analyse the data?

Speakers:
Bert van den Hoek, Senior Portfolio Manager, North America, Bouwinvest

11:20 am Networking break

11:40 am Data Centers: Finding investment value in the midst of a gold rush
The demand for data centers across the US jumped a whopping 72% in 2021 with further expansion expected. This session will address the drivers behind this increase, where investors are deploying capital, where (if) value can still be found, the strength in M&A and operator activity, and the ongoing focus on sustainability.

Speakers:
Jeffrey Kanne, President and CEO, National Real Estate Advisors

12:20 pm Finding (even more) opportunities in industrial real estate

It is no surprise that the demand for industrial real estate held up through the pandemic with the robust support of E-commerce, among others. This session will address the rising trends in the industrial sector, investment solutions in a heated market, the race to meet consumer demands, and the increasing challenges that have occurred in the sector over the past 16 months.

Speakers:
Jonathan Van Gorp, Managing Director, Makena Capital
Rosemary Feenan, Executive Vice President, Research, QuadReal

1:00 pm Networking lunch

1:00 pm Invitation-only luncheon: How family offices are leveraging the real estate asset class
Real estate has become one of the most prominent investment sectors in the family office portfolio with allocations rising year over year. This session will highlight how family offices are maneuvering the investment climate including direct-investing, deal flow, risk vs. rewards, capital placement, effective strategies, tax benefits, and more.

2:00 pm Life sciences real estate: 2022 investment outlook
Increasing FDA approvals, including the record-breaking COVID-19 vaccines, are among the factors creating a surge in funding for the life sciences sector. Who are the market-leading managers and how to tell a manager is merely on for the ride? What kind of operational expertise does a manager need to create value in this highly specialised field and where are the next big opportunities for LPs?

Speakers:
Leslie Wohlman Himmel, Founder and Co-Manager, Himmel + Meringoff Properties
Joe Marconi, Managing Director, Real Estate, Bain Capital

2:40 pm The future of offices: Is it still complicated?
It's official. Remote working is here to stay. But what does this mean for the office sector? This session will address if the need for offices has diminished, rethinking existing spaces, flexible and alternative office strategies, and emerging movements such as satellite workspaces.

3:20 pm Networking break

3:40 pm Deep-Dive Breakouts

Looking beyond gateway markets	Alternative Housing: Key properties to consider
High prices in gateway markets are forcing some investors to look beyond cities like New York and San Francisco. And US investors aren't the only LPs pivoting to these regions. Speakers will discuss diversifying via Tier 2 cities, where to find higher yield, trending sectors outside key gateways, and strategies to implement in portfolio construction Speakers: Michael Hunter, Global Head of Real Estate Alternatives, Nuveen Josh Patinkin, Managing Director, Leste Real Estate Jerome Nichols, President, Standard Real Estate Investments	During market volatility, diversifying with housing can often provide more stability. And a growing increase in alternative housing interest has investors progressively looking at this asset class, particularly in the US. Panelists will discuss property types' attributes, including affordable housing, workforce housing, SFOs, senior living, and more. They will address how COVID has changed alternative housing investment strategies, the good and bad of property types, yield expectations, and why institutional capital favors this sector. Speakers: Sam Bendix, Managing Partner, Landmark Properties

4:20 pm Deep-Dive Breakouts

Real estate appetite in family office portfolios	Emerging managers workshop: advantages, opportunities and best practices for the GP/LP
A growing trend in family office portfolios is direct investing, and real estate seems to be a popular diversification strategy. Speakers will address how family offices are allocating capital to real estate, strategies to mitigate risk, partnering with other families for greater return, working with advisors, asset classes to watch, and more.	This session will highlight small and emerging managers with specialized or localized strategies. Panelists will discuss what LPs expect from emerging managers, how EMs differentiate themselves via portfolio performance, how Covid has impacted EMs, and how they are pivoting coming out of the pandemic.

5:00 pm Fireside chat: How investors are diversifying their real estate portfolios

Find out where investor demand is focusing and how LPs are diversifying their portfolios within the private real estate asset class. From property sectors to geographic location, to investment strategies, this session will address where and how investor demand is concentrating.

Speakers:
JR Pearce, Senior Investment Officer, SCERS
Allison Wolfe, Chief Financial Officer and Global Head of Portfolio Management, Oxford Properties

5:40 pm End of Day 1 and Networking Cocktail Reception

Wednesday, December 1, 2021 –Investor Day: Outbound Strategies and Markets

9:00 am Chairman's Opening Remarks

9:10 am Strategies and property assets showing growth in Europe

The UK real estate market is showing a healthy amount of pent-up capital waiting to be deployed. Alternatively. This session will highlight the sectors that are pivoting, the sectors gaining momentum, what is fueling demand, and where the best opportunities lie for US LPs.

Speakers:
Mike Bego, Managing Partner, Kline Hill Partners

9:50 am What does office occupancy look like on a global scale?

The office sector has tumbled from its pre-Covid, no. 3 spot in LP interest, and now the world waits to see what the workplace will look like going forward. Even with the demand for traditional office space decreasing, the common sentiment is that office will never be obsolete. This leaves more questions than answers. How is the sector adapting and what are the key drivers? When and how will people come back to work? Which regions will see an uptick in the need for physical office space, and what are occupiers doing to attract tenants? Hear the answers to these questions and more.

10:30 am Networking Break

11:10 am Which markets are ticking upward in developed Asia?
As the recovery gains momentum and more people return to public spaces, portfolio positioning is critical. Panelist will discuss where the Asian real estate industry is headed now, how it has adapted, key lessons that are driving change, strategies and sectors that are positioned for growth, and which regions will bounce back first.

11:50 am Cross-border sub-sectors investors are eyeing
A recent PERE study showed even with today's economic uncertainty, most LPs view real estate as an asset class that will continue to enhance returns. Our experts will drill down into investor appetite over the next two years; project which sub-sectors of logistics, residential, office, retail, and debt hold the most appeal; debate direct vs. co-investing and discuss the most favored investment strategies.

Speakers:
Peter Tsoulogiannis, Partner, Slate Asset Management

12:30 pm Networking lunch buffet

1:30 pm PERE debt and financing symposium

1:30 pm The outlook of the US private debt landscape
Even amidst a pandemic, 2020 was a positive year for real estate debt managers to raise equity for the purpose of issuing loans. This session will examine fundraising in 2020, address the current state of the private debt market, project whether an uptick will continue, and discuss how risk and return strategies are evolving.

2:20 pm Key pivots in US lending
With just a brief pause during the Covid-inspired downturn, banks and debt funds continued to issue loans, even growing in momentum. This panel will highlight how lending opportunities are changing in today's market, traditional vs. alternative lenders, bank loan structures, assessing risk and performance, succeeding in a competitive market, and more.

3:00 pm End of conference
