HIGHLIGHTS FROM THE EVENT

There's quite a number of similarities between infrastructure and real assets, they both have the potential to generate real world positive impact scale in emerging economies.

Jo Saleeba
New Forests

Thinking about the sustainability of the environments and communities to which we invest in, it makes a lot of sense. Consideration around governance have always been at the core of private markets investment (Jeff Pentland on successfully implementing ESG strategies).

Jeff Pentland
Northleaf Capital Partners

Technology will probably evolve much faster than we expect, and investors will need to react and adapt in order to preserve the long term value of the assets.
